

Dear ( Bank CEO's name ):

It is with great sadness that I tender my resignation.

As you know, I have for some time now felt very frustrated due to the fact that I am not able to provide my customers with the services they need. I remember when things were different around here and so do they, and believe me, if it weren't for me they would have jumped ship long ago.

Don't take this wrong, I could not ask for a better group of colleagues. However, it is time for me to move on, so I have accepted a position at BankUnited where my talent and experience will be appreciated and I can go back to doing business with my commercial customers the way we used to.

Best wishes,

( "your best employee" )

P.S. I am sure you realize my customers will follow me. By the way, if you would like to join me at BankUnited, I will put a good word in for you.
